WORKSHOP OVERVIEW:

The Radiation Injury Treatment Network seeks to increase the understanding of and preparedness for the tremendous medical, environmental, and psychological consequences of a mass casualty radiological/nuclear incident for healthcare professionals. The 2022 RITN workshop will (1) highlight recent developments in Covid pandemic response and applicable lessons we have learned, (2) review and disseminate novel radiation countermeasures and dosimetry, (3) discuss optimizing triage and on the ground federal resources, (4) present strategies to ensure the availability and appropriate use of medical and psycho-social supportive care and resilience, and (5) explore applying telemedicine as a force multiplier for care and education. Additionally, the workshop will encourage open sharing of lessons learned from past efforts.

ATTENDEE PROFILE:

Physicians and other healthcare providers, support staff, hospital and hospital system administrators, emergency managers, research scientists, and appropriate federal agency staff involved in radiation response and treatment of patients with radiation-induced bone marrow injury are invited to attend.

Anticipated attendance: 170
